THE STAGE

Paul Gilmore.

Paul Gilmore, supported by an exceptionally good company will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, October 22, in his big success of the past season, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," which offering is guaranteed by the local management as more than worthy of an audience testing the capacity of the theatre. There are several reasons why this attraction should receive generous patronage. The play itself is most interesting and entertaining. It is a human play that goes straight to every heart and points a moral to mankind the heading of which would make this world the better by a thousand fold. What a beautiful moral this plain work of the playwright does point! It seeks to teach, and shows that when a man, no matter for what cause or in what way, places light valuation on the love and devotion of a true wife, he must blame himself alone if he reaps a harvest of sorrow. She may be weak, but she is of the weaker sex; and it is his duty—yes, privilege, to help her to be strong. How easy to give her that strength with those little devotions, those tender, thoughtful little attentions the heart should prompt but so often forgotten, so cruelly, if unintentionally, neglected. "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" is a play, the seeing of which will do any man of woman good, and make either truer and stronger in their fidelity to life. It is clever in its fines, subtle and impressive in the drawing of its situations, absorbing in its theme and the development of it. It is one of those plays that are better for being seen the second or third time, that we find more in with familiarity, more to admire of the playwright's work, deeper truths, and a more beautiful and powerful moral.

"Girls Will Be Girls."

Wm. A. Brady's big musical comedy company will present "Girls Will Be Girls" at the Grand Opera House in the near future. "Girls Will Be Girls" is a novel musical comedy containing many original ideas, a consistently funny story and a group of characters new to the stage, there is said to be over twenty catchy musical numbers and a large and attractive male and female chorus, who wear fetching costumes. The well known eccentric comediah, Mr. Al Leech, has made a great hit as professor Ebenezer Dodge. His performance is said to be the funniest that has been seen in years. Mr. Leech is aided by the Three Rosebuds and a company of fifty. The production and company is the same as that which just closed a six weeks run at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York City. From the already big demand for seats a crowded house will no doubt greet "Girls Will Be Girls."

BISHOP PENICK

MADE A STIRRING ADDRESS AT THE Y. M. C. A. ROOMS YESTERDAY.

A large number of men heard Bishop Penick's talk yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on "What Should a Layman Do?" The Bishop made an appealing talk on the necessity of young men becoming acquainted with God's teachings. He spoke of Christ's appearance to the two disciples on the road to Emmaus and showed that the men were not noted but common men, and that the laymen of the church have a duty to perform. The talk was worth hearing, and none should have missed it.

A feature of the meeting yesterday was the rendition of "Holy City" and "Abide With Me" by Master Newton See, the famous boy soprano here with Vogel's minstrels, and a member of the New York Y. M. C. A.

These meetings are growing in interest and numbers and all men are invited. They convene at three o'clock every Sunday afternoon. Next Sunday Judge B. F. Ramage will talk on "Eight Hundred and eleven Yanks in Jerusalem." Mr. Ramage recently attended the World's Sunday School Convention at Jerusalem, and will deliver an interesting talk.

The first entertainment of the course will be given Monday evening, October 31, by the Royal Italian Concert Band.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Some Embarrassment When Two Sound Very Much Alike—One On Warden Haddox.

By reason of the similarity of names, great embarrassment was brought on at least two gentlemen at Pruntytown yesterday morning. Warden C. E. Haddox and wife, of Moundsville, were the guests of friends at Pruntytown, and attended chapel exercises in the Reform School Sunday morning. The superintendent of the institution, shortly after the opening of the exercises, announced that Mr. Addiss would pray. Mr. Haddox being a consistent church member and accustomed to such requests, thought that his name had been called and started to return thanks to his maker. Just as he began, the other gentleman, the Rev. Mr. Addiss, of Pruntytown, had taken a few steps forward to comply with the superintendent's request, and was very much surprised to hear a stranger butting in. Mr. Haddox finished his invocation in blissful ignorance of his mistake, but not so the congregation which, to judge by its countenance, had allowed a little levity to permeate the religious air.

IN A NEW ROLE

ONE OF THE HATFIELDS QUITS THE WAR GAME FOR THE CUPID GAME.

SON OF DEVIL ANSE ELOPES WITH DAUGHTER OF MINE OPERATOR.

HUNTINGTON, Oct. 15.—Elias Hatfield, son of the famous Devil Anse Hatfield, who recently secured his brother's pardon from the Kentucky penitentiary, eloped last night with Miss Helen Holland, aged 16, daughter of one of the largest coal operators in West Virginia.

Hatfield four years ago was pardoned from the Moundsville penitentiary by Governor Atkinson, where he was sentenced for a long term for taking part in the famous Hatfield-McCoy feud. Upon being pardoned Governor Atkinson brought young Hatfield to Winona, where he appointed him to guard the Winona mines during a strike.

After the strike Mr. Holland employed Hatfield as detective around the mines and during the last year he became infatuated with Miss Holland. On Thursday Hatfield approached Mr. Holland and asked for his daughter's hand. The mine owner objected. The refusal of the father caused the two young people to plan a romantic marriage and Friday evening while the father was at the mines young Hatfield secretly stole his bride away and went to Fayetteville where they were united in marriage and proceeded on a bridal tour through the east.

A GOOD MAN GONE.

Henry T. F. Davis Died Saturday Afternoon of Neuralgia of the Heart.

Henry T. F. Davis, one of the leading citizens of Mannington district, died at his home on Binghamon Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, of neuralgia of the heart.

Mr. Davis seemed to be in good health and had worked on his farm in the forenoon. After dinner he started for his horses to drive to Mannington to hear the speaking there by Governor White. He became quite sick and went to the house. A passing physician was called, and administered medicine which seemed to give relief. But only for a short time did he rally, and then became worse. Within an hour he was dead.

The funeral services were held this morning at the M. E. Church, near the home, and the remains were interred in the home cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Scott. Mr. Davis was in his sixty-second year.

Deceased had been a member of the M. E. Church for thirty-seven years and class leader most of that time. During the civil war he served as a member of Company D, Sixth West Virginia Infantry, with such faithfulness that he was promoted to sergeant. He was one of the county's best and most respected citizens, and leaves a large number of friends who will be sorry to learn of his death.

A widow and five children survive. Two children are married. Mrs. W. J. Moore and Mrs. J. R. Hess. One daughter, Miss Maud, is at home. Two sons, Okey and Claude, both well known in this city, survive. The former is a student at the Baltimore Medical School and the latter holds a position at Mannington.

FATALLY HURT.

Wilsonburg Young Woman Injured In a Runaway and Will Die.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 15.—Miss Anna Francis, of Wilsonburg, was perhaps fatally injured between here and her home this morning in a runaway accident. She and Miss Della Ball went buggy riding and while driving across the street a bolt worked out of the shaft, frightening the horse. Miss Ball jumped out without injury, but Miss Francis remained in the buggy and when the horse had attained a rapid pace the buggy hit a rock and threw her violently to the ground. Her head struck a rock, a gash several inches long was cut in her face, three ribs were broken and other injuries. Her recovery is doubtful.

ENGINE'S LEAP.

Little Kanawha Locomotive Takes a Jump Into the River.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 15.—A freight engine of the Little Kanawha Railroad Company made a thrilling dive into 20 feet of water in the Little Kanawha river this morning. The company transfers its cars across the river at this place on a barge. The engine was pulling several cars down the steep bank to the barge when it got beyond control and rushed at full speed down the bank, across the barge and then plunged headlong like a diver to the bottom of the river. The crew jumped and was saved, although engineer John Dobson was seriously injured in jumping.
